President's Look Into Future Draws Attention to Past Work

To people interested in the College, Dr. J. W. Jones, president, has been in the newspaper spotlight this past week because of his request for $200,000 from the State to establish a branch of the College at junior college level.

Picture Taking Is Near Completion

In the past few weeks, a considerable amount of work has been done on the 1959 Tower. In addition to the completion of individual pictures, many of the faculty pictures have been taken.

Most of the organizational group pictures were completed November 3, according to the staff.

All organizations must turn in write-ups for the Tower to Jo Ann Outs or some other member of the Tower staff no later than Monday, December 1, the day after vacation.

Within the next few weeks, advance sale of the Tower will be held on the first floor of the Administration Building.

Among the students who have been assisting the Tower Staff are Ardith Linn, Sharol Rorabaugh, and Linda Pennington.

Party to Be Held For Noyes Orphans

On December 7, orphans from Noyes Home in St. Joseph will be guests of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority at a Christmas party.

Church services, dinner, and a movie will be on the agenda.

Those on the planning committee are Larry Brown, Don Beeson, Gael Florea, and Hugh Hadden, Tau Kappa Epsilon; and Margo Floyd and Sharon Kolhof, Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Two Art Students Present Exhibits

Two graduating seniors, Danny Dorsey and Gene James, are now exhibiting their art work in the art department lounge.

Danny Dorsey is from St. Joseph and will graduate at the end of this semester. Gene James is from Shenandoah, Iowa, and will graduate this spring.

Projects being shown are various water colors, oil paintings, and craftwork.

This action was authorized by members of the Board of Regents, and if granted, would lead to the establishing of a branch by taking over the St. Joseph Junior College.

During his years as president, Dr. Jones has proved himself a driving force behind the bounding expansion of the campus. Faculty and student morale is high. Levels of achievement are good.

Has Worked to Increase Salaries

Among some of the principal accomplishments of President Jones are the increase in salaries for faculty members, the expansion of the faculty to meet the increasing enrollment, the addition of graduate programs, pre-professional curriculums, 3-3 plans in law and engineering, and field service extension.

President Jones' efforts have resulted in the construction of Freshman Hall, the new Men's Dormitory, the new classroom building, the Health and Physical Education building, the farm shop, the remodeling of the Administration building and gymnasium.

The construction of Residence Hall annex, the Men's Hall, the Industrial Arts addition, the Union building, an addition to the heating plant, a bus barn, the athletic fields, stadium and bleachers, tennis courts, roads and walks, parking lots, and College Heights.

Has Interest in Student Activities

The development of the annual Homecoming celebration into an enjoyable event for the campus and the community was the idea of President Jones. His interest in student activities has also led to the creation of the Union Board and the Revision of the Constitution of the Student Government Association. At all times he has emphasized quality in all student affairs.

While serving as president of the College, Dr. Jones has also given of his time to such activities as the Commission on Studies, AACTE; Missouri Commission on Education Beyond the High School; the White House Commission on Education; and the Committee on Credentials, Missouri State Teachers Association. He is a member of the NEA, Missouri State Teachers Association, Phi Delta Kappa, Rotary Club, and the Masonic Lodge.

President Jones lists among his plans for the future of the College a fine arts building, a state salary plan according to faculty rank, an

The aprons will be priced according to the amount of work done on them.

Student Teachers To Hold Seminar

Student teachers will hold their next seminar December 4, at 4:00 p. m., in the Horace Mann auditorium. Student teachers and supervising faculty are expected to attend each of the meetings.

Faculty members of the College are especially invited to attend each of the seminars, as well as students in education classes and students who have completed their student teaching.

Miss Chloe Millikan will conduct the discussion for elementary school teachers on the problems of elementary teaching. Mr. H. R. Dieterich will discuss problems of secondary teachers.

College Would Operate Junior College Branch

Two forward steps in solving critical Missouri educational problems were taken Nov. 17 by the Board of Regents of the Northwest State College. One would lessen the pressure of rapidly increasing enrollments on state colleges through a co-ordinated system of tax supported junior colleges, and the other would train teachers for instruction of handicapped children.

Both proposals have evolved from long studies and recommendations by Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the State College, and George Blackwell, St. Joseph superintendent of schools. And both take into consideration use of buildings and personnel of existing educational facilities.

The main proposal, one that could help solve the state college enrollment problem in the state, is for Northwest State College to extend its services and open a junior college unit in St. Joseph. It would entail the operation of the present municipally supported St. Joseph Junior College, which was founded in 1915.

Such operation of a junior college by any college would be through the specific state college of the district and the state system of higher education. Funds for such an operation would be supplied by the state.

Would Cost $200,000 Annually
The Missouri Assembly will be asked for $200,000 annual funds for operation of such a unit in St. Joseph, which would be the first of its kind in the state.

Formal approval by the St. Joseph board of education, which has given tacit consent, is required, along with the approval of the State Legislature through the granting of operational funds.

If approved and put into operation, credit would be given under the name of the State College for the first two years' work in the St. Joseph Junior college units on the same basis as in Maryville.

There are no state tax supported junior colleges in the state, and the State College's St. Joseph unit would lead the way in showing other State college districts how to handle the rapid enrollment increases through state approved, tax supported junior colleges as units of the state college in that

Ag Club Invites Colleges to Contest

Eight colleges from four states have been invited to participate in the annual Ag Club Livestock Judging Contest to be held here Saturday, December 6. This year marks the first year that other schools have been invited to take part in the judging.

Charles Knorr, president of the Ag Club, reports that invitations have gone out to the agriculture departments of Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg; Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield; Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, Kirksville; Tarkio College, Tarkio; Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa; McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas; Friends University, Wichita, Kansas; and Nebraska State Teachers College, Chadron, Nebraska.

Livestock for the contest will be supplied by farmers and breeders from this area, according to F. B. Houghton, Ag Club adviser. Trophies and awards will be presented to the individuals and teams ranking highest in the judging.

Students Attend Speech Tournament

Seven students will attend the Midwest Speech Tournament at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, Kirksville, Friday and Saturday, December 5 and 6. These students will be participating in debating, after-dinner speaking, and poetry reading.

Saturday, November 22, Lawrence C. Brown, Sandra McMillan, Roger Reith, Robert Sawyer, and David Hargrave attended the Twelfth Annual Bradley University Speech Tournament in Peoria, Illinois.

Nodaway County Is Slated

To Be Responsible for 42,840 Possible Evacuees Needing Medical Care, Food, Shelter, Clothing

By Joyce Barnes

Care of 42,840 evacuees might be the responsibility of Nodaway County.

This information is given in "Missouri Survival Plan," a state emergency operations plan developed by the Missouri Civil Defense Agency.

St. Joseph, one of Missouri's large cities and an important industrial center, is considered to be a probable target area if an enemy attack on the Midwest should be made. Nodaway County would be one of four counties in this area to which St. Joseph evacuees would be sent.

Alert Is Unsuccessful

Little definite progress has been made in emergency preparation outside of the field of communications since a rather unsuccessful practice alert was held about two years ago, according to Colonel Lauris M. Eek, Nodaway County Civil Defense director.

Colonel Eek blames apathy on the part of the public for the slowness in putting statewide planning into effect here.

He went on to give probable arrangements which would have to be made for the care of evacuees from a disaster area.

College Might House Evacuees

Evacuees would be housed in schools, churches, halls, warehouses, stores, and anywhere else facilities are available. If necessary, the college buildings would be used as shelter for the refugees.

None of the private homes in the county would be taken over until all other facilities were exhausted, Colonel Eek said.

Mass feeding of evacuees will be under the charge of the County Extension Agent, who is named as the county feeding chief in the "Survival Plan." He would employ restaurants, school lunch facilities, churches, and lodges, as well as wholesale and retail grocers. The College Union cafeteria would probably be one center for feeding of evacuees.

Churches Might Aid Feeding

Colonel Eek pointed out that churches would be one of the most useful mass feeding facilities because of their capabilities for feeding large numbers of people.

Local food supplies in grocery stores and restaurants would be exhausted rapidly, and food rations would be short until adjustments could be made.

For care of ill and injured people, a two hundred-bed portable hospital, which is under the control of the National Guard, could be set up at the armory in case of a great emergency. If necessary, it could be powered from a new mobile power unit which the county hopes to have soon.

Doctors and Nurses Organize
Doctors and nurses in the county are organized, and they are ready for emergency functioning.

Colonel Eek said that effective and efficient communication systems

College Gives Good Support

Capacity crowds savored the prize-winning comedy, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," brewed by the College drama and speech department and presented in the College auditorium on November 20-21, under the direction of Dr. R. E. Fulsom.

Dan DeMott, in the lead role of Sukini, delivered a delightful performance as the Okinawan interpreter who was forever harassing Colonel Purdy, aptly portrayed by Delbert Smith. Both characters did a good job in timing their laugh lines and pulled laughter from the audience easily.

Handsome Captain Fisby was given his best portrayal by Floyd Worley in his hilarious Act II scene when he received Lotus Blossom. In Act III, Sergeant Gregovich, portrayed by John Quastler, brought a round of applause from the audience as a result of his excellent portrayal of the intoxicated sergeant who fell into a brandy vat.

Janice Wilkinson was excellent as the beautiful Geisha girl, Lotus Blossom. She displayed her acting versatility in scenes of both joy and sorrow. Captain McLean, the thwarted army psychologist, was ably portrayed by Bill Price. His antics and quick wit provided a receptive audience with laughs.

Portrayals Are Good

John Meek, Ancient Man, and Curtis Pritchard, Mr. Hokaida, were especially convincing in their roles. Bonnie Warner, as the old woman, played her part well; and her vocal representation was good. Mr. Sumata and his father were played by Rodger Hitt and Leon Walker, respectively. Both did a fine job playing the part of the son and of the father.

Joe de la Cruz was at his best in his role as the unrequited lover as well as the Chief of Agriculture. Mr. Keora, played by Ed Flanery, did a fine job of adding to the atmosphere. Through active characterization, John Bush did excellently in portraying the old man, Mr. Oshira.

Miss Higa Jiga, played by Eileen Rittmann, carried out her character part to the fullest and is to be commended for her leadership of the Ladies' League for Democratic Action. Members of this league, who portrayed a typical group of ladies from any country, are also to be praised for their acting.

Villagers and Astor Give Color

As a whole, the villagers handled their parts efficiently, although their action was more on a still-life stage. The characters themselves seemed to line up against the back drop. Fortunately, Lady Astor, the goat, had good manners.

Others who did well in supporting roles were Robin Foster, Jackie Garret, George Faris, Dave Vos, Dann Baschande, Tom Mooberry, Merlyn Beckler, Jerry Lucht, Merrill Spellerberger, Susan Grube, Rosalee Anderson, Pat Murphy, Marilyn Gillis, and Ruth Curfman.

Staff Deserves Recognition

No minor part did the production staff play in the success of "The Teahouse of the August Moon." The hours of work these students and teachers spent, aside from their own busy schedules, is much appreciated. The effect of the play was based upon the beautiful and realistic Japanese settings.

Those on the production staff were Dr. R. E. Fulsom, Carl Redmon, Dan DeMott, Bill Price, Ruth Curfman, Pat Murphy, Mary Pritchard, Margo Floyd, Ann Newcomer, Kay Reid, Ronald King, Roger Blackwell, Ralph Messerli, Dan Neville, Clyde Weeks, John Bush, and Fred Reeves.

Others assisting on the production staff were Mr. L. G. Blatt, Mrs. Theodore Palmer, Mr. Everett Brown, Judy Frese, Maudie Chivington, Linda Cunningham, Janice Wilkinson, and Marilyn Gull.

Dr. R. E. Fulsom, director of the play, is well on his way in another successful year of producing theatrical plays. This is his eighth year of producing plays on this campus.

Thanksgiving recess is here and many students are already crowding the highways, filled with the exuberance of the post-mid-term holiday. The period of fun and freedom is short-lived enough as it is—but it could be shorter still.

In past years, countless students from all parts of the country have been killed or crippled in holiday accidents. Our student body is no exception. Just two years ago, a St. Joseph student lost her life in a traffic accident, and a Tarkio College student was killed that same fall. Every student knows of other such accidents.

Only individual care and caution will save lives and limbs. Your life depends on your safety, and your safety is your responsibility.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

specific district.

Other municipally supported junior colleges in Missouri are located at Flat River, Trenton, Joplin, Kansas City, and Moberly.

Has 512 Students

The St. Joseph Junior College is operated by the municipality. It has 22 teachers, 4 other personnel, and 512 students. Residents of St. Joseph for several years have discussed a change in the program, many proposing that a four-year college be established by the city in place of St. Joseph Junior College.

Dr. Jones explained his proposal as one which would help lessen the pressure of rapidly increasing enrollments in state colleges.

"By providing state supported junior colleges in each of the state college districts and using existing physical plants, generally speaking, there would be reduced need for capital outlays for new buildings.

"The immediate need would be for the state to supply operating funds.

"Existing facilities and operating personnel could be assimilated into the present state college system. The pressure of rapidly doubling enrollment within the next 10 to 15 years could be well taken care of through such a co-ordinated program," Dr. Jones believes.

Dr. Jones stated further that with the "multiplying problems of state colleges, some plan is needed for overall supervision of the higher educational system of the state. Local boards of control are valuable, but there is urgent need for a co-ordinating board that will have certain functions looking toward uniform practices with the several institutions."

The Board of Regents also approved a request for $30,000 from the State Assembly to employ additional faculty for training teachers in special education and allowing them to do clinical work at the Myrtle Miller School for handicapped children in St. Joseph.

This program, also worked out by Blackwell and Dr. Jones and the St. Joseph board of education, would be sponsored under the Hawkins Bill which was passed in the last legislature.

A Special State Program

It would be the first program in the state under the law, which allocates $100,000 for opening of schools to train mentally retarded children, speech defectives and physically handicapped children.

The Myrtle Miller School has long been regarded as one of the outstanding for this type of training in the Midwest. It is operated by St. Joseph and lists 24 teachers, three other personnel, and 364 students.

Dr. Jones said the funds would enable the State College to employ instructors in special fields for the training of teachers and would allow clinical work by student teachers at the Myrtle Miller School.

Such a program also must be approved formally by the St. Joseph school board.

Talk Enlarging Union Building

The regents also discussed plans for enlarging the Union Building's feeding facilities in the light of the increased enrollment.

The regents also approved long weekend recesses for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's.

addition to the Union, a home economics house, a paint shop, air conditioning for all campus buildings, paved roads, improved classroom facilities for instruction, library improvements, and a student council arrangement that will act as a more vital part of the program of the College.

Has Goals for Service

Building a quality program in college work, giving increased attention to special education, and extending the services of the College through branches of NWMSC junior colleges are functions to be considered.

President Jones also plans continued emphasis on the quality of all student activities, further development of the Union Board, a 100-piece marching band, an orchestra, more College plays and debates, and wider student participation in all present activities.

His specific views concerning the teaching profession are reflected in his own accomplishments as head of the College. Under his intelligent, timely direction, the College has taken an important place among the institutions of higher learning in the United States.

Gives View of Good Teacher

The President likes to find in a person devoting his life to the teaching profession, an interest in students, a sense of humor, and an eagerness to be known as a superior teacher. He believes a teacher should know his subject and his students and be willing to work at relating the two; be an intellectually honest and upright citizen; and be a reliable person who has a wholesome philosophy of life.

President Jones spent his childhood days in Gibson City, Illinois, and was graduated from Drummer Township High School there. He attended Illinois Normal University, Normal, Illinois, and Indiana University, earning from the latter his A.B., A.M., and Ph.D. degrees. He served as an Ensign in the United States Naval Reserve during World War I. He came to the College June 1, 1938, as dean of the faculty and was named president of the College December 1, 1945.

College Is His Favorite Pastime

President Jones considers the College his favorite pastime, as well as his profession. He has done a great deal of traveling between Maryville and Jefferson City in the interest of the school. When he has leisure time he enjoys pictures, fishing, and crafts.

President Jones points with satisfaction to the faculty and student body of this college. He describes the students as "tops" and praises the faculty as being loyal, hard-working, interested in students and willing to help them at all times.

"We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us"—these familiar words of the College Oath, President J. W. Jones has put into action.

Nodaway County Is to Prepare

Communications are the one field in which definite progress is being made in this county.

Ham Operators Are Nucleus Forming the nucleus of the emergency communications system here are a group of licensed ham radio operators, who are trained for emergency work themselves and are helping to train others. It is possible that the College Radio Club would be able to help with emergency work.

County-wide operations would be directed by means of a mobile radio unit owned by the county which can contact any or all of the two-way units from anywhere in the county. This unit was seen by those attending the Homecoming Parade October 25.

Having its own power generator, the new mobile unit is independent of any power system which would be apt to fail in a disaster.

State Has Other Targets Five other areas in Missouri are listed as probable target areas in the "Survival Plan." They are Whiteman Air Force Base, which is located southeast of Kansas City, Kansas City itself, St. Louis, Jefferson City, and Springfield.

Three counties in the state would be responsible for more evacuees than Nodaway County. They are Cape Girardeau County, Franklin County, and Jasper County.

Figures on evacuee assignment are found in "Missouri Survival Plan." The plan is a two and one-half-inch-thick book giving the organization of Civil Defense emergency planning on state, district, county, and municipal levels. It includes such areas as attack warning, communications, police, welfare, transportation, and many other areas involved.

Area Must Carry Out Plans However, it is still up to each county and municipal area to put the plans into effect and to make its own preparations.

Nodaway County's County Court and the Maryville City authorities are cooperating with the Civil Defense agencies, and while the public has not taken a great interest in Civil Defense, it is believed that the foundation has been laid for an effective and efficient Civil Defense organization in Maryville and Nodaway County.

'Cat Cagers to Open Against Nebraska

Bearcats to Meet Cornhuskers For First Game on December 1

Bearcat basketball players, under head coach Marion Moss, will travel to Lincoln to tangle with the Cornhuskers of Nebraska University December 1. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

Gerald L. (Jerry) Bush, sometimes called the "Coliseum Bear," coaches the Cornhuskers. Bush is in his fifth year as head coach. He is an authority on the game of basketball, having been named to the All-American teams in 1937 and 1938.

He played professional ball from 1938 to 1947 and received All-American Professional Team honors five years. In 1946 he was selected as one of the ten best all-time professional players.

Bush has capable assistants in Jim Kubacki, Wilson Fitzpatrick, and Tony Sharpe, freshman coach.

Nebraska Has Height Problem

Coach Bush is extremely well pleased with the progress of his varsity, although height seems to be a problem at center. Bob Harry, at 6-6, is the tallest man on the varsity squad. In modern basketball, this is not considered much in the way of height.

Nebraska University, a member of the Big Eight conference, has a school enrollment of 8,400. The Coliseum will seat 9,000. The team's uniforms will be scarlet and cream, the school colors.

Teams Meet for Sixth Time

This will be the sixth meeting between the two teams, with Maryville still looking for a win. Coach Marion Moss of the Bearcats is running his team through extensive practice in preparation for the meeting. He is hoping he can chalk up a victory and the first win in the series with Nebraska.

Coach Moss has no definite starting lineup as of yet and seems to be looking for the best combination. He is working the team mostly on fundamentals and ball control.

Probable starting line-up for the Nebraska Cornhuskers will be Bob Harry, 6-6, center; Jim Kowalke, 6-3, and Al Maxey, 6-3, forwards; and Wayne Hester, 6-2, and Herschell Turner, 6-2, guards.

Cross Country Team Takes Third in Conference Meet

Maryville's cross country team finished third in the MIAA meet at Rolla on November 15. Rolla won the race, with Kirksville second, followed by Cape, Warrensburg, and Springfield in that order.

Bearcats to Seek Successful Season

When the State College Bearcats open their '58-'59 cage play Dec. 1 against the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, they will have two goals in mind.

They will want to better the season turned in by last year's team, a four won, 17 lost listing.

And they will want to hand their new coach, Marion Moss, who took his training under Hank Iba, the famed Bearcat coach of 25 years ago, a good season in his first year.

Coach Moss, who has been assisting Coach Paul Turner in football and teaching physical education since September, may raise the ghosts of the championship teams of the early '20's from the boards of the MSC gym. He coaches the same style of play—that of ball control—to use a popular term, as did Iba when he took State College teams to the top of their league and to national small college championship play in Kansas City.

Coach Moss will use a tight man to man defense, sound basketball in well executed plays for shots that are run in practice, and players well versed in cage fundamentals.

From a record turn out of 57 cage aspirants, Coach Moss has brought forth a squad of 25 men, seven MSC lettermen, eight transferees from other schools and 10 freshmen.

Bearcats Have Two On All-Star Team

With the completion of the football season the 1958 M.I.A.A. all Conference football teams as selected by the coaches was announced on November 19, by John Waldorf, commissioner.

Two Bearcat players were named to the second team, missing the first team by a close margin. Senior Gene Smith, captain of the Bearcat team, was selected as a guard on the second team and sophomore Micky Nardin was placed on the second team at an end position.

Random Shots . . .

With the basketball opener getting closer and closer the team is working hard to put together a smooth running unit. Coach Marion Moss is stressing fundamentals as much as he can. He feels that members of the team must know these basketball fundamentals before attempting anything else.

Cape Girardeau obtained the M. I. A. A. Conference football crown for the second straight year by trouncing Warrensburg 42-6.

Dick Powell, quarterback for the Bearcats, ended up as the top passer in the Conference with 30 completions for an average of 35.9 per cent.

Two Bearcat basketball lettermen, Ed Kavanaugh and Clifton Schmitt, have dropped from the team because of injuries.

The spirit on the basketball team is good, and the whole team seems to be striving for a successful season. Coach Moss feels that the men are capable of having one and will be disappointed if they don't.

Phi Sig Is Winner Of 1958 Wrestling

Phi Sigma Epsilon broke the long winning streak of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity's intramural victories last week as they won the 1958 Intramural Wrestling Tournament.

Phi Sigma Epsilon captured five of the eight weight division championships, and won by a score of 101 to 94. The winners are as follows: Heavyweight class, Jack Mendenhall, S. T.; 191 lb. class, Jim Clayton, S. T.; 177 lb. class, Russ Miller, P. S.; 167 lb. class, Harold Wilmarth, P. S.; 157 lb. class, Gary Rickman, S. T.; 147 lb. class, Ralph Messerli, P. S.; 130 lb. class, Lynn Peterson, P. S.; and 123 lb. class, Kernal Tshako, P. S.

The all-star first team consists of seven seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore. Dale Mills, Kirksville's sensational sophomore, who led the Nation's small college rushers most of the season, was unanimous choice of all of the Conference coaches for a position on the first eleven. In recognition of this honor, he has been selected as Captain of this year's all-star team. It is the first time that a sophomore has so been selected.
